

Humanities Council Little Lecture - Special Presentation:
"Contemporary Literature from West Virginia"

For Immediate Release
April 29, 2019

Contact: Tricia Stringer, 304-346-8500
stringer@wvhumanities.org

Charleston, WV — Since 2001 the Humanities Council has presented the annual Little Lecture Series at its historic MacFarland-Hubbard House headquarters in Charleston. A special presentation of the May lecture is scheduled for May 18 at 4:00pm in Clarksburg WV. The event will take place at Waldomore, on the Clarksburg-Harrison Public Library grounds, at 404 West Pike Street. This event is free and open to the public.

Mount St. Mary's University Provost Dr. Boyd Creasman will present a program titled "Contemporary Literature from West Virginia" that draws from his recent book Writing West Virginia. Creasman was an English faculty member and administrator for 27 years at West Virginia Wesleyan College. His research and teaching of Appalachian literature informed his book that was published in 2016 by University of Tennessee Press and the first critical study of literature from the Mountain State to analyze multiple authors.

Call 304-627-2236 or visit clarksburglibrary.info for additional information.

Sponsored by the Cultural Foundation of Harrison County and the Friends of Clarksburg-Harrison Public Library with support from the West Virginia Humanities Council.

The West Virginia Humanities Council, an independent nonpartisan nonprofit, is the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.
